

STRONG MEN ARE NAMED DEPUTIES BY MR. DILLON

Republican Candidate for County Tax Commissioner Names Two Very Strong Men as Deputies—All County Men.

Mr. A. H. Dillon, of Sardis, the Republican nominee for County Tax Commissioner, on Saturday selected his deputies to serve in the event of his election to this very important county office. Mr. Dillon has chosen Mr. James P. Graybill, of Fern Leaf, and Mr. W. W. Stubblefield, of Rectorville.

Both of the men chosen are young and active. They are both farmers and well acquainted with Mason county farm values. They are very popular in their neighborhood and throughout the entire county and it is their election in November the people of Mason county are assured of a square and fair deal in the assessment of their property for taxation.

The selection of the deputies was made after carefully going over the matter with the men chosen. They are capable and efficient and all men of high repute and honor.

TWO CANDIDATES RULED OFF THE COUNTY BALLOT

Independent Candidates for Sheriff and Jailor File Their Petitions Too Late to Get on Official Ballot.

Mr. Andrew Clooney, Independent candidate for Sheriff, and Mr. George B. Holliday, Independent candidate for Jailor, have been ruled out of the race by an opinion from Attorney General Dawson received by County Clerk J. J. Owens Saturday afternoon.

The Attorney General's telegram says: "The last day on which a candidate could file his petition in the County Clerk's office as an Independent candidate for county office was September 24th. For city office the last day would be October 24."

CHAS. I. DAWSON, Attorney General.

Mr. Clooney's petition was filed with the County Clerk on October 1st and Mr. Holliday's petition was filed on September 26—just two days late. This ruling eliminates all independent candidates on the county ballot.

JURY HANGS ON VANDERHOUSE.

J. C. Vanderhouse, colored, who was tried at the Lewis Circuit Court at Vanceburg Saturday on a charge of attempted assault, was returned to the local jail Sunday by Sheriff Bertram to remain until the next session of the Lewis Circuit Court. The jury hung on Vanderhouse's trial.

CRIMINAL TRIALS FOR PRESENT TERM OF COURT COMPLETED

Pleas of Guilty Made in Three Criminal Cases Held From the Lower Courts—Two Go to Reform School, One to Pen.

The criminal docket for the present term of the Mason Circuit Court was stripped Monday when the petit jury returned to wipe out the cases hanging fire in which the defendants were held in the local jail.

The first trial called was that of Jesse Snapp, 22, indicted for larceny in connection with stealing the automobile of Rev. A. H. Chaplin, Presbyterian minister at Washington. Snapp had a very good face and this was his first time in trouble. Upon the advice of the minister and in view of the fact that it was Snapp's first trouble, District Prosecutor Grannis recommended to the jury the lowest penalty — one year in the penitentiary and this recommendation was accepted by the jury.

Robert Striblin, 13, a lad who has been in much trouble about Maysville and who does not seem to have the right influence, also entered a plea of guilty, a jury was waived and the case was left to Judge Newell, who for the boy's good, ordered him taken to the State School of Reform.

Albert Mallory, who has also caused much trouble in the local courts was arraigned for larceny in breaking into the home of George Morgan on the Lexington pike and stealing several articles of value. District Prosecutor Grannis recommended the lowest penalty of two years in this case and the jury accepted the recommendation. As Mallory is but 18 years of age, he will also be committed to the State School of Reform.

ELDER JOHN SHACKLEFORD DEAD.

A telegram came Monday announcing the death of Elder John Shackelford, at Tacoma, Washington, at the home of his son, Jack. He was in his 87th year. Elder Shackelford was a prominent and much beloved minister of the Christian church, a pastor of several churches, and in his later active years Professor of English in Kentucky University.

Our older citizens will recall him as the son of Dr. John Shackelford, a distinguished physician and surgeon of our city, and Mrs. Ann Chambers Shackelford one of the most estimable women in a state of attractive women. The family residence was in the house now occupied by Mr. M. J. Flarity. There was reared a large family of sons and daughters, all of whom showed ability and force of character. Elder Shackelford was very tall of stature, with a most benign and intelligent countenance, and his relatives and friends generally regret to learn that he has been removed, as they cannot doubt is true, to heavenly service above.

TWO TAKEN TO STATE PENITENTIARY MONDAY.

Sheriff Bertram, of Lewis county, spent Sunday night in Maysville with two prisoners who had been convicted at the present term of the Lewis Circuit Court and left Monday morning for Frankfort to place the prisoners in the State Penitentiary. One had been given a year's term on a forgery charge and the other had been given four years on a charge of house breaking.

FOREST AVENUE STORE AND RESIDENCE ENTERED

Thieves Enter Elbert Trisler's Home and Grocery Store Sunday Night—Unable to Tell What Was Taken.

When Mr. Elbert Trisler, Forest avenue grocer, and his family returned home from church Sunday evening, they found the side window in their dining room open and the kitchen door unlocked. Looking about the residence and the store which is connected, many burned matches were found and the cash drawer and cash register in the store were found to have been opened.

The thieves removed a screen from the side window and prying the window open entered in this manner. After ransacking in the house and store, they left the building by unlocking the kitchen door.

What was stolen, Mr. Trisler cannot tell at this time. Only small change was left in the cash drawers by Mr. Trisler, the amount is not known, but this was taken. Several packages of tobacco were found on the dining room table which had been left there by the thieves. The local police are looking into the case and have the description of two strangers seen in that neighborhood earlier in the evening.

COUNTY SCHOOL ENROLLMENT BEST IN YEARS

Ninety Per Cent. of Mason County's School Census Is Enrolled in The Public Schools.

County School Superintendent Turpin and County Attendance Officer Bullock have completed a listing of the students enrolled in the Mason county schools and both officers are justly proud of the fine showing made.

These reports show that there is a total enrollment of 2370 children in the county schools and 183 of these are in the county high schools. These figures do not include the county children who are attending the Maysville graded or high school nor do they include the children from the county who are attending the parochial school. When these figures are obtainable, the county school officials think there will be a decided increase in the total enrollment.

The figures will show that more than 90 per cent. of the Mason county school census are attending the public schools, which is a most excellent showing that will be surpassed by few counties throughout the state.

AMERICANS LOST IN SHIPWRECK OFF SCOTTISH COAST

Twenty-four Persons Drowned and Many Others Missing As Result of Steamer Collision.

Glasgow, Scotland, Oct. 10. — Twenty-four persons, including ten members of the American Syncopeated Southern Orchestra, perished when the Laird liner Rowan sank off the southwest coast of Scotland after two collisions yesterday. It was reported today.

Earlier reports of the disaster contained a list of only 16 missing, including one American, but it was believed today the number of victims was 24.

Three Ship Pola experts who were to have participated in the conference at London tomorrow were among those drowned.

The Rowan collided with the American steamer West Camak in the north channel off Corsemall Point early yesterday and both boats were damaged.

Rushing to the rescue in response to urgent wireless appeals from the West Camak, the liner Clan Malcolm crashed into the Rowan, which sank immediately. There was a heavy fog.

Both the West Camak and the Clan Malcolm assisted in the rescue work, which was carried on with difficulty.

BEREA COLLEGE MEETING ON WEDNESDAY EVENING

Prominent New Yorker Will Speak and Moving Pictures of Berea College Will Be Shown.

The meeting which is being advertised for 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at the First Baptist church will be addressed by Dr. Jonathan C. Day, head of the famous Labor Temple of New York City. It is a part of a nationwide movement to redeem from ignorance millions of our best American blood in the Appalachian Highlands who because of their lack of opportunity have fallen behind in the race of progress. None of the rich mineral deposits of the mountains are so valuable to the nation as the vast human resources awaiting development there, according to the belief of many national leaders.

"I had said that I would make no speech for any organization or any institution during my term as Secretary of State," said Charles E. Hughes when requested to participate in this campaign, "but I will make an exception for Berea College. I would make it for no other institution in America."

Secretary Hughes will preside at the Washington meeting and will speak in behalf of this movement to raise a one million dollars necessary fund for Berea College. Others who will speak at other times and places are: President Harding, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Wm. C. McAdoo, President Charles Eliot and William Jennings Bryan.

A three-reel picture will be run showing the story of a mountain boy and girl who came down to Berea College and went through its various departments. The Berea faculty quartet will sing. The meeting is open to the public.

FALL IN MOUNTING HORSE BREAKS NECK OF MORGAN SYLVIA

Resident of Sixth Ward Is Killed Instantly Near Springdale in Fall Saturday Night—Neck Was Broken.

William Morgan Sylvia, aged about 70 years, who resides with his son-in-law, Isaac Holt, in a flat over the M. C. Hutchinson grocery in the Sixth ward, was killed instantly at about 6:30 o'clock Saturday night at the home of John Sartin in the Springdale neighborhood when he fell alighting upon his head and breaking his neck.

Mr. Sylvia had eaten supper at the Sartin home and was about to return to Maysville horseback. He climbed onto a small pile of stone to mount his horse and had sprung when the horse stepped forward and the aged man fell to the ground striking upon his head and neck breaking the spinal column.

Coroner T. F. Higgins was notified and at about 8 o'clock held an inquest at the scene of the accident. The body was removed to the home of Mr. Holt in this city and funeral was held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Burial was made in the Maysville cemetery.

POLICE COURT.

In the local Police Court Monday afternoon James Malone was fined $10 and costs on a charge of being drunk. Two youngsters picked up on the streets at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning, were allowed to go on out of the city, when they informed Judge Whitaker that they were seeking employment.

STUBBLEFIELD—HOLMES.

Miss Mary Louise Stubblefield, the eldest daughter of W. W. Stubblefield, of Rectorville, and Mr. V. A. Holmes, of Marion, Ind., were married at the Gibson Hotel, Cincinnati, Monday afternoon. Miss Stubblefield has been a nurse at St. Joseph Hospital and met Mr. Holmes when a patient there. They will reside in Cincinnati.

A man must figure that his chances of winning an election are pretty slim, when he stoops so low as to circulate the tale that one of his opponents has withdrawn from the race. 10Oct-1t

A PRICE FIXING SCHEME.

Mr. E. T. Meredith, Secretary of Agriculture under the last administration, proposes a new scheme by which prices and production are to be governed. He suggests that the government determine a year in advance what the prices of the following five articles shall be the next season: corn, wheat, wool, cotton and sugar. The government, he says, knows approximately how large a quantity of each of these staples we shall need for domestic consumption, and by fixing a minimum price will be able to control the supply.

For example: "A price can be fixed upon wheat which will permit enough farmers to engage in its production to give us six hundred million bushels if that be our need. A higher price will let in additional farmers who are not so fortunately situated as those who could produce profitably at a lower price, to give us a total production of seven hundred million bushels. A still higher price will give a still larger production."

So he believes the government could control production by controlling prices, and would, under his plan, take over any surplus and distribute it to the best advantage when and where it could best be absorbed. A surplus, he insists, would be the only part of a crop that the government would ever be called upon to buy, for the knowledge that the minimum price would always be paid by the government on demand would hold the market at or above that figure.

The whole scheme is so defective, so contradictory of the economic laws which experience has taught us, that it sounds like a chapter from Utopia.

In the first place, the government cannot accurately determine a year in advance our domestic needs, and certainly cannot arrive at the demands which the world may make upon our surplus. Nor is it possible to forecast what any crop will be even three months in advance. Floods, drought, disease, pests of all kinds are beyond control.

In the second place, any attempt to fix prices conflicts with the law of supply and demand, and any effort to set this aside will, judging from the past, result in confusion and failure. The human factor cannot be managed by any government, no matter how powerful.

Mr. Meredith also fails to see that if a minimum price is to be fixed on the five commodities which he names, the government will be called upon to include iron, coal, copper, oil, hogs, cattle, lumber, and many other things, to which there will be no end. In the analysis wages would have to be included.

Finally, the writer seems to miss the most important point of all, which is that under such a system the government would be in justice bound to fix maximum prices in order to protect the consumer. When this step had been arrived at, it would be the next logical step to take over the railroads, the factories and the sources of raw materials, and to frankly acknowledge that it had adopted outright the doctrine of pure paternalism.

SELECT MEN WHO ARE THE MOST CAPABLE.

On various and sundry occasions The Public Ledger has editorially warned the voters of Maysville to select men for City Council who are capable and efficient and who have no other reason for sitting in Council than to serve the best interests of the city.

Now, on the eve of the election, we again sound the warning and urge every voter to study carefully the candidates in his ward before casting his vote in November. There are many important matters certain to come before the city's legislative body during the next two years and only the best men should be elected.

Too many times have the people of Maysville elected men to Council because they are good fellows, well liked and popular. None of these things should count this year and only the men who are able to see the right and have the grit and backbone to stand by it, should be considered.

Let's elect a City Council for efficiency once.

WEED OUT SLACKERS.

Whatever we may think of his statesmanship—and it has not been very remarkable—Henry Ford is a business man of high order. Speaking recently of his own factories, he said, "After the war we found loafers and non-producers in our Detroit plant. We weeded them out and are now able to sell cars cheaper than before the war." From this one can very readily draw the conclusion that the loafer is not only robbing his employer—he is robbing everyone who buys his employer's goods. If an employee loaf on the job, the employer must add that much to his costs of production and to his selling prices. Just remember that when you see some one slacking on some other man's job.

PEACE WITHOUT FORCE.

The marines sent to Panama on the battleship Pennsylvania for the purpose of preventing armed conflict between Panama and Costa Rica are on their way back home. They did not fire a shot, but they were effective, nevertheless, in keeping the peace on the isthmus. When Panama heard they were coming she immediately indicated her willingness to abide by the White boundary award. Which leads us to the observation that because a battleship never fires a shot or an army never makes a hostile move is no reason to conclude that money spent on them was wasted. Their potential power kept the peace more effectually than if they had been engaged in bloody battles.

USE IS FOUND FOR WASTE PRODUCT OF SLATE QUARRIES

U. S. Department of Mines Announces the Discovery of Use for What Has Been Waste.

Washington, D. C. — Numerous new uses for waste product, the refuse of slate quarries, are pointed out by the United States Bureau of Mines, as the result of an investigation made in co-operation with manufacturers of mechanical rubber goods. From 80 to 95 per cent. of the gross production of all slate quarries in the United States, has been discarded as waste, and the expense involved in handling so much undesirable material has added greatly to the cost of finished slate.

As a result of the experiments, it is indicated that pulverized slate, or slate flour, may be used satisfactorily as a filler, to give "body" or to supply the necessary wearing qualities to such everyday accessories as garden hose, rubber shoe heels and soles, carriage tires, and rubber packing and disks of various kinds. It develops also that ground slate may be used to advantage as a constituent of some classes of linoleums, oil-cloth and window shades. It is possible that, with finer grinding, the material may prove a satisfactory filler in the making of automobile tires, phonograph records and other products requiring extremely fine-grained filler.

For plastic roofing and flooring products containing coal tar, pulverized slate has long been in use and constitutes a very satisfactory filler. The insoluble character of slate renders it of especial value for acid-proof plastic flooring and lining for acid tanks. About 75 per cent. of the volume of certain types of plastic flooring is made up of ground slate, and probably several hundred carloads per year of waste slate are used for this purpose.

In these new fields of utilization, pulverized slate will have to compete with talc, soapstone, foreign and domestic china clays, pulverized limestone or marble, ground barytes, aluminum flake, whiting, ochre or mineral paint, and other materials now used extensively as fillers. Slate flour has a great advantage in price over certain of these materials.

The Bureau of Mines has previously pointed out that the manufacture of filler for road asphalt mixtures is a promising field for slate waste utilization. The tonnage of filled used in such asphalt mixtures is very great. It is estimated that the city of New York alone 50,000 tons per year.

According to the United States Geological Survey, the production of slate in this country in 1920 amounted in value to $8,726,442. Included in this was roofing slate of a valuation of $3,524,658. Over four million school slates were manufactured in the United States in the same year. Blackboard

HOME TOWN PAPER WEEK.

It is very rare that the average newspaper boosts its own business, but gives quantities of space in boosting the affairs of others.

Somebody suggested that it was time for the newspapers of the country to adopt a week in which their own business should be given precedent, and the Public Ledger thoroughly endorses the idea.

The date set is the second week in November, from the 7th to the 12th, including that great world event, Armistice Day.

The official title for the week will be "Subscribe For Your Home Town Paper Week."

Thousands of papers will join in this event, and our readers will hear more about it as time goes on.

Ever ready to help in any cause that is in the interests of a better community, better living conditions, and better government, we no wask the readers and advertisers of the Public Ledger to turn in and lend a hand during "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week" and boost for us.

COBBLER USES JAIL.

A cobbler of Jefferson, Mass., has just rented the town jail for his shoe shop. He had fitted up the office for his shop and living room and has converted one of the cells into bedroom and the other into a kitchenette and dining room. The town authorities found they had no use for the jail and decided to get some revenue from the building.

BOMB KILLED WHALE.

A 45-foot whale was recently washed ashore at Cape May, N. J. It was thought to have been wounded by a naval bombing plane on a practice flight. Later it was attacked by sharks and killed. This is the first whale known to have visited Cape May in the past 20 years. The whale was towed out to sea and dynamited there.

Matinees and Nights

If you are a cunning little bride don't forget that feeding Hubby entirely on SUGAR, is bound to give him matrimonial indigestion! If you've fed him solely on kisses, remember at the end of the honeymoon he will be ready for his office, and a regular meal. Anatol's little bride, Vivian—who is so happy that she is making the mistake of putting too much honey in the honeymoon. But Anatol and Vivian are still in the matrimonial kindergarten—too busy playing with "blocks" to know that life has shared their first stern lesson in a midnight cafe—called "The Green Fan." In Anatol's Primer "E" stands for Emilie, a bobbed-headed Jazz Girl—who was, in the forgotten days of the eighth grade, his little sweetheart. Gordon Bronson—known Down Town as the Man of Iron—but in "The Green Fan" as the Man of Dough. "I just wanted to impress upon you, my dear, that for you the Red Rose has thorns!" "Go ahead with your rescue work, Sun—he noble, and educate her! I'll come around in a couple of months and pick up the pieces!"

UNCLE TED'S RED-TIME STORIES.

"But why should China look to us to help her out of her troubles," inquired Jack, breaking into the conversation that was going on as the family gathered in the sitting room after the evening meal.

Uncle Ted had been giving an account of the arrival in the United States of foreign representatives in preparation for the conference on limitation of armaments. He had commented on the fact that the Chinese delegates were among the first arrivals and that they were seeking to interest the United States in their defense against the claims of Japan.

"Hah China ever done anything for us?" asked Ruth.

"No, China has never done anything for the United States in particular," replied Uncle Ted, "and there is no special obligation on our part to help her out of her troubles, but it is quite natural that China should come to us first for aid."

"Why?" inquired Jack.

"Well, you see," responded Uncle Ted, "among all the important nations of the earth, the United States is the only one that has proved to be an unselfish friend of China in the past. Now that seems like a harsh thing for an American to say, but it is literally true. I can remember that when I was a boy in the common schools one of our new geographies had a change in the map of China and we were told that Indo-China had become a part of France. The French simply went in and took it. Great Britain took one important port and Germany took control of another. Russia grabbed some Chinese territory on the north and finally Japan provoked a war with China and took possession of Korea. Russia had been claiming some rights in Manchuria, which was supposed to be a sort of Chinese province, and Russia and Japan went to war and Russia was whipped, or, rather, the war was brought to an end when Russia was getting the worst of it. Anyway, Japan practically took away China's interest in Manchuria. Then when the European war broke out Japan joined on the side of the Allies against Germany and went in and took possession of the German concessions in China.

"But I am getting ahead of my story. You remember, perhaps, hearing about the Boxer troubles in China. That happened before you were born, but it is in your history and if you haven't come to it yet, you will some day. Well, anyway, the truth about it is that a very large number of Chinese got angry about the way other nations were grabbing their territory and demanding the right to control their commerce, their railroads, etc. These Chinese started trouble such as we would call a riot or a rebellion in this country. They acted without the orders of the Chinese government and in defiance of the government, and yet I suspect that the government officials were a whole lot in sympathy with them. The Boxers were not mad at any foreign government in particular, but at all foreigners. They not only attacked foreign private citizens but they attacked the foreign embassies—the places where the representatives of foreign governments live—and they killed some people and imprisoned others. In order to rescue those who were besieged, the other leading nations went in with troops—all the important nations sending some soldiers.

The United States sent some. As a result, peace was restored and China apologized for the outrage. But the other nations demanded damages—indemnities. China agreed to pay the damages but this country declined to accept any more than enough to reimburse private claims.

"Now you can understand why China looks upon the United States as her one unselfish friend. Practically every other nation had been grabbing Chinese territory, but the United States never had. Then, when all the nations had been awarded damages, the United States declined to accept any for herself. Other nations had provoked the Boxer uprising and the American had not. But it was the United States that showed the only friendly and forgiving spirit."

"But what is China in trouble about now?" asked Jack.

"Well, as I told you a moment ago, when Japan went into the European war, she took the German possessions in China. Then, while the war was on, Japan made 21 demands upon China which, if agreed to, would mean that Japan would control China for all future time. Japan claims that China did virtually agree to these demands, but China denies this.

"I rather think that Great Britain made a sort of agreement to uphold Japan's claims, without knowing the importance they would play, and I suppose the British government feels that it must not oppose Japan even if it does not actively support it in the unreasonable demands upon China. But whatever the British government does, the British people will not stand for any such injustice. The governments of Australia and Canada and South Africa, which are British dominions, are opposed to the Japanese aggressions against China. The whole world, when it comes to understand the situation, will condemn Japan. But it looks as though perhaps the Japanese diplomats during the war were too smart for the British diplomats and may have gotten them to agree to too much. I don't know whether that is so or not, but we will know pretty soon."

"Anyway, President Harding realizes that there can not be permanent peace unless such questions affecting nations bordering on the Pacific Ocean are settled, and he is trying to have them settled before there is an agreement reached regarding the limitation of armaments.

"Japan, of course, wants to postpone taking up these questions, for she is in possession now, and the longer she can put things off, the better her claims will be."

"Have the Chinese ever been mean to anybody else?" asked Ruth.

"Never in all their history," replied Uncle Ted, "and China is the oldest nation in the world today."

SODA IN WATER KEEPS POTS AND PANS BRIGHT.

Washing pots and pans after each time they are used in hot, soapy water containing a small amount of washing soda is perhaps the best means of keeping these kitchen utensils clean and slightly, home economics specialists at the College of Agriculture say. One pound of washing soda to four quarts of water makes a solution of the right strength to add to the wash water. Where it is necessary to scour the metal of the utensils to keep them in good condition it is said that whitening gives satisfactory results with the least wear on the metal. The acids of such common foods as rhubarb, tomatoes, lemons or oranges will often remove discolorations. Rinsing the utensils with boiling water and drying them thoroughly before they are put away also is helpful in keeping them clean and bright, the specialists say.

Whitening moistened with any food acid such as those mentioned is good for aluminum. Washing soda should not be used on utensils made of this material since the alkali which it contains darkens the metal. A weak soda solution will often remove grime from brass while whitening and a dilute acid will remove tarnish. Brass may be polished with rotten stone and sweet oil and dried with soft cloth. Copper may be cleaned in the same way.

Kerosene will remove rust and grease from metal. Boiling utensils of this kind in a strong solution of washing soda also will remove rust. In some cases a strong abrasive such as emery may be necessary in order to remove all the rust. Too much scrubbing with harsh substances soon wears off nickel plate, the specialists say. Daily cars with hot soap and water prevents tarnish while a polish may be obtained by using whitening moistened with ammonia.

Badly discolored tin may be freshened by boiling it a few minutes in a strong solution of soda and water. The tinware should be removed immediately after the boiling is completed and washed, rinsed and dried. Kerosene is the best cleaning agent for porcelain since abrasives used on this kind of material remove the glaze. Iron rust may be removed with dilute hydrochloric acid. Porcelain should be washed and rinsed thoroughly after the acid has been used. Better results can be obtained in making coffee and tea if the pots used for this purpose are thoroughly scalded, dried and aired before being put away, the specialists say.

Since the foundation of the United States, 67 billions of dollars have been spent and of this, 58 billions were for army and navy departments, their auxiliaries, pensions and interests on the public debt.

THE PRICE OF WHEAT.

Later reports as to the world's wheat supply, from our government Bureau of Justice, show that at the present time there is no serious cause for alarm. As a matter of fact, in the twenty largest wheat producing nations, the 1921 crop is estimated as being some hundred million bushels larger than last year. Presuming that these figures are fairly accurate, there seems no reason to anticipate a big increase in the price of wheat during the winter. The market is strong at this writing, however, with the usual fall rumors of drought in Argentina. Also, the rice yield is low in India, which is causing that country to buy wheat from Australia. So there are arguments on both sides. The man who is holding his wheat for higher prices will have to use his own judgment. Those speculators on the Chicago Board of Trade, who are sometimes good guessers, figure that December wheat will be worth about three cents a bushel more than September wheat, which would pay the interest and carrying charges.—Farm Life.

Quiet Wedding Saturday Eve.

Mrs. Gertrude Baugh Piper and Mr. John McElroy Cochran were very quietly married at the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. D. Baugh, in East Second street Saturday evening at 10 o'clock by Rev. John Mullen, pastor of the Christian church. Only the immediate families of the bride and groom were present and immediately following the marriage the couple left over the C. & O. for a wedding trip to Washington and other Eastern cities.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. J. D. Baugh, is a most charming young lady, very popular in a large circle of friends and most accomplished. The groom is the eldest son of Judge and Mrs. A. M. J. Cochran and is private secretary to his father. He is a young man of very strong personality and very popular.

Scores of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cochran join the Public Ledger in wishing them much happiness. Upon their return to Maysville in a few days, they will make their home in the W. H. Rees flat in Court street.

There will be a very important meeting of the executive committee of the Mason County Sunday School Association at the home of Miss Ella Wallace Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Several matters of unusual importance are to come up, necessitating the attendance of every officer of the association. Those who attended the state convention at Newport last week will tell of the convention, and of the forward program for the work in Kentucky. Mason county's splendid work came in for words of praise by the leading workers of the state. The meeting Wednesday evening will forecast the program for Maysville and Mason county the coming year.

Win Saturday's and Sunday's Games From Winchester and Are Entitled to the Crown.

Maysville hands Winchester a double dose by winning both Saturday's and Sunday's game on the latter's grounds and clinches the semi-pro championship of the bluegrass section of Kentucky.

Hoskins and his big bat were the outstanding features of the first game when his hit scored both Fortner and Kresser in the first inning after Fortner had led off with a hit and was sacrificed to second by Slayback.

Kresser walked and stole second when the long single scored both runners. The Hustlers evened up the count in fourth with two runs and both teams rested on their oars until the thirteenth when Hoskins broke loose again with a drive that scored Slayback and Kresser who had preceded with singles.

King's performance Sunday was almost as remarkable as Donald's the day before only for the eighth when he momentarily lost control of the ball and allowed Winchester their entire quota of runs on four bases on balls a hit batsman and two singles, netting five runs. In the other eight innings but two hits were secured from his delivery and not more than four men ever faced him in any one frame. Dean his opponent hurled now a member of the Louisville Colonels was held in reserve by Manager Ellis to make sure of winning one game, was not in his class being touched up for fourteen bingles and seven runs.

A large crowd of rooters and admirers of the locals made the trip Sunday and witnessed the final game of the season.

MILLERSBURG MARSHAL INJURED BY 'LEGGER

Alleged Bootlegger Shoots and Wounds Marshal Murray and Bystander.

R. T. Murray, town marshal of Millersburg, who was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital at Lexington Sunday morning, suffering from a gunshot wound inflicted by Prince Johnson, negro, whom he was attempting to arrest at his home in Millersburg, is resting comfortably, according to reports from the hospital. The exact condition of the wounded man has not been fully determined and an operation may be necessary. Fonzil Henderson, negro, a bystander, was shot in the arm.

Murray, with Harry Linville, a deputy, entered Johnson's home to search for a quantity of liquor believed to have been brought in the night before. Murray entered a front door and Linville came in the rear entrance. Johnson drew his revolver on the deputy, and Marshal Murray attempted to shoot the negro. The hammer snapped but the gun missed fire, and Johnson turned and shot Murray. Another shot went through a window and struck Henderson on the outside.

Win Saturday's and Sunday's Games From Winchester and Are Entitled to the Crown.

Maysville hands Winchester a double dose by winning both Saturday's and Sunday's game on the latter's grounds and clinches the semi-pro championship of the bluegrass section of Kentucky.

Hoskins and his big bat were the outstanding features of the first game when his hit scored both Fortner and Kresser in the first inning after Fortner had led off with a hit and was sacrificed to second by Slayback.

Kresser walked and stole second when the long single scored both runners. The Hustlers evened up the count in fourth with two runs and both teams rested on their oars until the thirteenth when Hoskins broke loose again with a drive that scored Slayback and Kresser who had preceded with singles.

King's performance Sunday was almost as remarkable as Donald's the day before only for the eighth when he momentarily lost control of the ball and allowed Winchester their entire quota of runs on four bases on balls a hit batsman and two singles, netting five runs. In the other eight innings but two hits were secured from his delivery and not more than four men ever faced him in any one frame. Dean his opponent hurled now a member of the Louisville Colonels was held in reserve by Manager Ellis to make sure of winning one game, was not in his class being touched up for fourteen bingles and seven runs.

A large crowd of rooters and admirers of the locals made the trip Sunday and witnessed the final game of the season.
